Dustin Duve who joins the Farley Center/ Natural Path Sanctuary Staff as a Gravesite Laborer

Due to the growing workload in the Sanctuary, Dustin works closely with Director Shedd Farley and Natural Path Sanctuary Asst. Kalev Kristjuhan. He is a proud father of two daughters, ages 14 and 5, whom he loves to spend his free time with. Dustin is currently following a calling to become an attendant to the dying, and his interest in this work has brought him to The Farley Center.

Volunteer Lunch

The Farley Center/Natural Path Sanctuary thanks ALL of our wonderful volunteers! We could not do all of our programs/events without our volunteers. On April 2, we celebrated with our most active volunteers at Quivey's Grove. These are volunteers who have helped out at the Center for years and never hesitate to help out when asked (and even when they are not asked!). THANK YOU to: Linda Josheff, Sue Schuetz, Katrina Krueger, Billy Morgan, Patrick Norby, Matt Kersten, Tracy Miller, Janie Ocejo

Flying kites together!

It was perfect weather on the first day of spring to fly a kite! It was a fun day for everyone! Some days you just have to let loose and go fly a kite.

The Spring and Summer are full of fun events, concerts and opportunities...FIND OUT MORE and come join us!

The Farley Fly-By cocktail!

A fantastic turnout of Farley Center supporters who came out for the debut of the Farley Fly-By (made with Farley Center honey) at Palette Bar and Grill in Madison. If you didn't make it on March 26, there is plenty of time to try the cocktail as it will be available for spring and summer. Thank you to General Manager Bobby Gunther and Staff at Palette Bar and Grill for organizing the fun night!

Back to the Earth: Why Green Burials Matter

Shedd Farley - Director, Farley Center, Tajai Turner - CEO and Licensed Funeral Director, Grace Memorial Funeral Services; Green Burial Council Speakers Bureau and Moderator Sheamus Johnson explored the environmental benefits of a green burial during Nelson Institute for Environmental Studies, UW-Madison's virtual CHE Environmental Colloquium in March.

Fundraiser to help Ukraine

Thank you to all who attended the concert fundraiser for Ukraine. Over 100 people came to hear Intemperance Collective /John Duggleby and generously donated funds for a total of $4575 that was split between Doctors Without Borders and Americares to help with humanitarian needs in Ukraine. We appreciate the overwhelming donations from local businesses and individuals and the generosity of concert attendees. Thank you to all the volunteers who helped organize and especially Tim White of SWWAP who worked tirelessly to put this fundraiser together.

Supporting Healthy Black Agriculture (SHBA)

The Farley Center is hosting Urban Triage's SHBA Workgroup in May through harvest. SHBA provides Black Families with the skills, tools, and support to succeed in agriculture-related ventures and increase food access while providing the space and opportunity for family bonding, trauma recovery, and healing.

Wisconsin Food Forests

We met with the Wisconsin Food Forest group (led by Erin McWalter) to talk about signs, a Little Library with ABC books in Spanish and English and a welcoming space where hops can grow over the roof. Just a preliminary meeting to discuss ideas to expand on the food forest demo at the Center. More details to come in the near future.

Farley Center Solar Thermal Array Project with UW Mechanical Engineering Students

Thank you to Mac Donohue, Noah Argus, Callan Hanley and Noah Lawinger, UW-Madison Mechanical Engineering seniors, for helping the Farley Center improve our Solar Thermal Array. They have been working on this since September and will continue through the end of the school year.

Your Partnership is Key to Meeting our Mission of Peace, Justice and Sustainability.

The Farley Center is funded in part through the generosity of donations from those who share our vision and also through Natural Path Sanctuary green burial sales. We invite your support and participation. Learn more about the Farley Center.
